

Korean Special Warfare Center
&
707 Special Operations Battalion friendship visit

Pathfinder China made a visit to some friends at the SWC in Korea. A Pathfinder plaque was offered to Colonel Kang from the SWC while receiving a token of friendship from the 707 Special Operations battalion. The last time we met was during a jump in central China.

With Mst Sgt. S. , a plaque offered to Pathfinder
SWC quarters

From SWC - 707 to Pathfinder

The 707th Special Mission Battalion is the elite Special Forces unit in the Republic of Korea Army Special Warfare Command. The battalion's nickname is 'White Tiger'

707 Special Operations - White Tiger battalion

From Pathfinder to SWC

With two friends, Colonel K. (SWC) and Mst Sgt. S. (707)

A hike up the hill overlooking SWC on a cold Korean morning

Vintage point overlooking the SWC area and 3rd brigade

An old guard post on the hilltop east of Seoul

Special Forces beret and badge

Some of the young S.F. elements were having this woven inside the beret.

The “Special Forces soldier prayer”

“Should I die, do give my body to the crows
Do give my spirit to my beret
Do give my dog tag to my mother
Do deliver my message to my loved one
As I do only have one death and one love.....”

The commando brigades and SF brigades patches and insignias from the SWC PX store

SF - Marines – Rangers badges

Courtesy of Pathfinder China